

A world class mobile workforce solution

AirVersent is a world leader in highly configurable mobile solutions for logistics and field service workforces. Offering flexible and adaptable solutions suitable for organisations of all sizes, AirVersent has a proven track record of success around the world, with over 15 years experience in providing companies with answers to their field mobility needs.

ServiceNet® is a field service management solution that provides the link between customer service systems and the mobile field force. It delivers real-time views of workflow and seamless data exchange as well as the tools to create, configure and control the field application on the mobile worker's handheld device.

This software uses the mobile phone network to send job instructions, work schedules, and real-time updates to workers in the field. You can further increase efficiency and improve customer service with optional scheduling, resource management and customer appointment booking modules.

ServiceNet's comprehensive field service offering includes:

- Up-to-the-minute management and control of field operations with ServiceNet real time Workflow Manager
- Optimised, dynamic work assignment and routing with ServiceNet Scheduling
- Immediate application set-up and deployment with Click&Go technology
- Ongoing performance reporting, wireless data collection, and analysis of your service operation

Key markets: Facilities Management - Utilities - Manufacturing

AirVersent also provide software, 20/20 Delivery, which is tailored for logistics and delivery. For further information, contact Ian today on the details below.
